Their future is at your fingertips

Yes, their future and yours belong to you! What will you make of your chances? Will you succeed and make a better world for everyone, or will you lean back and take life easy? Take advantage of your opportunities row. Support the team for better living.

Your chances are limited only by your abilities and your determination to develop and use them.

Before you really step out into life, you must organize your thoughts. Use some care in planning your future but leave room for unforeseen opportunities and obstacles that may appear. Whatever you do, do it well. Remember the future is only what you make it.

The difference is in the distance

Each morning and evening the familiar orange school busses can be seen criss-crossing Austin's surrounding countryside where they receive and discharge their cargoes of noise, books, and knowledge.

Much the same scene takes place within the city's boundaries each school day too, although many find the energy to walk the few or many blocks to their local doorstep of learning.

From experience comes leadership

During the last year, the United States experienced a national election. The people turned out in record numbers at the polls and overwhelmingly elected Dwight D. Eisenhower the President for the next four years.

In pre-election days, 80,000 people came out to see and hear Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson when they attended the fall festivities at Plowville. A large number of Austin residents were on hand for the speeches.

Also in a major spotlight was Gordy Goick, Austinian photographer, who was elected president of the Minnesota State Press Association for the year 1953.

Classes take basic place in school day

Although taking a back seat in publicity when compared with sports and other extracurricular activities, classes are the main functions of the school proper. Behind each closed door is a world within a world where the real purpose of our public school system is carried out. Classes and students alike keep on moving and covering new fields of learning.

From the moment an individual enters his first classroom to the instant he leaves his last one, a remarkable transition takes place. Each person is delivered from his haphazard voungster days to a time of facing life with a mature outlook.

What do seniors study?

We reminisce as all seniors do

How busy can a person be? The many events that the seniors enjoyed this year proved the ever-ringing statement '53 is the best year" to be true. As in every year, work, sports, mixers, and parties combined with an unlimited amount of homework made the seniors the busiest people in the school For the last time he has registered, decorated the homecoming floats, prepared for the homecoming festivities, and traded pictures.

The excitement of graduation is dulled by the sad thought of leaving school. While the freshmen are anticipating the time when they will graduate, the seniors are wishing that they could begin again. Every student has his own thoughts as he recalls experiences he has had in the past twelve years,

Finally, the years are finished with the activities of Senior Skip Day. Then marching to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" at Baccalaureate and Commencement, and dancing at the prom for the last the product of the contract of the place of the contract of the place of the contract of the surrounding world

With a smiling face, Don Knutson watches while Doctor Fisch gives him his Mantoux test. The background scenery did not help to enliven the atmosphere as the seniors dubiously lined up to be jabbed with the needle. It was apparent that Mr. T. B. Germ had not entered the senior class of A. H. S. because all seniors remained in school although some of them thought they would never be the same.

Heels star at tea

"Ooh! just look . . . four inches high," say Jerry Clement as he measures the heel of Nancy Svejkovsky's shoe. Ted Colescott and Ken Pedersen are very curious as they give Sandra Hess and Sharon Kime the "once over". The big event for the gals was the Friendship Club's Mother and Daughter Tea, which is an annual event. Although the girls were given a bad time, they still say it was a worthwhile adventure.

Deck the halls

The Christmas Spirit affected everyone locally and seniors are no exception. An all-girl organization, the Senior Friendship Club, decorates a pair of trees annually, but Bob Hastings and Bill Pribble thought they would get a little of the glory this year. The boys, "honorary" members of SFC, contribute worthwhile remarks.

Towing free, too

One of the famous landmarks of the class of '53 is "the green job", driven by our own Theodore Colescott. As Nancy Bateman, Nancy Svejkovsky, Don Ryks, Ken Pedersen, Barb Lewis and Karen Grier will agree, this truck is conveniently used as a taxi and an all-purpose school bus. Since only the cab has seats and standing is rather difficult, the next most comfortable place is the floor.

Dough makes dough

"Ummm, that smells good," says
Frank Burton as he takes the bread out of the oven. Baking bread isn't all he does in his working hours though, as he also has to wash pans, fill flour bins, and keep the bakery clean. Along with these tasks he has proved to be an expert taster as he samples the freshly baked goodies.
Frank is just one of many seniors who have part time jobs, and baking is one of the many fields involved.

Did you look into or were you ever in a trig class of Mrs. Blanche Black? The most predominent characteristic is the formal way the class is run and the students act. It is apparent from the faces of Tom Togas, Don Beaver, Duane Youngdahl, and Bill Rugg that trig needs deep concentration. There are those people who are of the opinion that they have trig mastered, but a timely test by Mrs. Black brings them to their senses again.

Lower classes lead enrollment total

Oops! There goes the card catalog. Besides tipping furniture and files over, students DO study. The library is the center of the intellect when research papers are assigned in the C.P. English classes.

Magazines, books, pamphlets and the new paperback books are available in a wide subject range.

Since the students' time is limited in the library, most of them use their time wisely.

Science can be fun

Small fry varies daily activity

Eighth grade music classes meet one hour each week. During this hour, they prepare themselves for chorus and learn more about music, composers and artists.

Throughout the year, the individuals of Junior High Science Club work on projects and play host to guest speakers. Extra sidelights are the visits to the state meeting in May and a science fair in April.

Junior officers enjoy Sentinel

Among the various duties of the junior officers are the choosing of class rings and the planning of the junior-senior prom. Although there is work to do, one can be certain that these "big wheels" enjoy many pleasures, such as reading the Sentinel. Included in the Big Four are president Bob Hoff, veep Doris Nelson, secretary Janice Plager, and treasurer Dale Bartley.

Freshmen outgrow that curfew age

The word freshman brings to mind the students who walk around with their heads held high, for now they are the royalty of the junior high. The opportunity of going to school mixers and parties has now been thrust upon these hearty souls. Parents also have given way to the Frosh by allowing later curfews and more privtleges.

Freshmen find their class counselor very helpful in deciding what subjects to take the following three years. Learning to read well is an art

Tutoring can best describe the type of work being done in Miss Eleanor Carlson's literature classes. With the help of a classroom library, students learn to read slowly and concentrate on factual material. Word wheels are used to help in the pronunciation of words. Short noon hour brings changes

A second assistant principal, Glen H. Darling, joined Austin's expanding school ranks in the senior high school. Doron L. Warren moved his offices one flight up and is specializing in junior high school work.

At the helm as counselor to all students is Ray M. Wescott, principal. Mr. Wescott is chief adviser on class scheduling. This year he has been kept busy with his pet project, the noon hour schedule. A desire to protect the individual student and citizen against increasing safety hazards has been the most important single consideration in adopting this program.

Superintendent L. S. Harbo's duties are to manage the grade schools, high school, and junior college, and select the faculty.

Board members set service record

Voters of Austin have shown complete satisfaction in their choice of school board members, as this has been the tenth consecutive year each member has served on the board. Two members have contributed approximately seventeen years of service, apiece.

The school board has the responsibility of setting up a budget for the operation and repair of the schools and they are also faced with the matters of construction and enlargements of the school,

Construction has already gotten under way for the new vocational school to be headed by Mr. Floyd Lueben. The school is to be located across the street from the high school on Kenwood Avenue. To prevent safety hazards, an underground tunnel will be constructed beneath the street from the high school to the vocational building.

Primary use of this school will be for vocational subjects such as carpentry, beauty culture, and auto mechanics.

Spanish adviser brews chili

"Care for some chili con carne?" asks Mrs. Evelyn Galbraith, Spanish Club adviser. Mrs. Galbraith, like many other teachers who use some spare time acting as club advisers, finds that her time is well spent.

By acting as an adviser the teacher receives an opportunity to meet the students in a more informal manner and is able to understand them better.

It isn't always play, and no work. At times, faculty sponsors find themselves with the job of planning the club meetings, or even making the lunch.

Teen age times add spice and variety

No nyn pu guart, the lives of Austin's teeragers. Lake anyone else, individuals create their own kinds and harbors of fun. Games, mixers, formals, sleighrides, and innumerable parties of every nature add spice and variety to the after-school hours of the great majority.

School life has to be made interesting, but when Austin Highers get together, evenings just are interesting. Whether it's all boys, all girls, or straight dates, everyone has fun. Don't get the impression that all is play with no work in Austin. Austinites have both

Year upon year, new friends are made, new "steadies" begin and end, and old friendships are renewed. No one can live by himself throughout the school year and no one wants to.

Royalty relaxes as day ends

Following the coronation and annud cheers of congratulation, the queen and her attendants reigned over a spectacular Homecoming parade. Napkins, crepe paper, and many hours of work brought forth a variety of beautiful, as well as humorous, floats

Still later, a festive crowd, triumphant after a victory over Mankato, streamed into a gayly decorated cafeteria to dance to the music of Henry Charles. Watching over Queen Marlene and her loval subjects was the silhouette of a football player leaping from a football of white napkins. Participating seniors felt that the final homecoming celebration for the class of '53 came to an end all too swiftly at the stroke of midnight

Queen reigns after spritely pepfest

One moonlight night at the end of September, the students of Austin High School were out at the Athletic Field cheering their team on to victory. This was a special occasion—Homecoming—and Austin's football team was experiencing a long winning streak, which came to a close a few weeks later.

Homecoming 1953 started off with a bang as the snake dance wound from the high school to the Athletic Field. The pep fest and bonfire ended the evening.

The following afternoon, the auditorium stage was set for the coronation of the 1953 queen. Not a sound could be heard except the organ music as pretty Marlene Nordland, wearing a scarlet robe over her glittering white formal, was escorted to her throne by Dick Anderson, President of the Student Council. Queen Marlene and her equally attractive attendants, Jean Roberts, Darlene Cunningham, Doris Blowers, and Ardyth Arens, were presented with bouquets of giant yellow chrysanthemums.

A hilarious skit was presented by the members of GAA. The planetarian cheerleaders, Sondra Christianson, Virginia Shutt, and Nancy Zein did a super job in their costumes that were "out of this world."

School provides parttime employment

Learning how to sell a product is only one phase taught in Central's merchandising class. Those interested in managing a store of their own some day acquire the fundamentals needed.

Whatever kind of a store you wish to own, merchandising teaches the various techniques in attractive window displays and also arrangement of display inside the store. Learning how to get along with the customer is an important part of store management that is taught.

Students in the course have part-time jobs and put their learning to good use.

Clerical work can be interesting, too

Are you interested in a form—a legal form that is?? Then the shorthand-secretarial truning class will be of great advantage to you.

Learning to operate various business machines, including the mimeograph and the acid duplicator, is one objective of the course. The girls also learn to take dictation and write business letters Secretarial training is a two-hour course. The first hour consists mainly of taking letters in shorthand with the second hour devoted to transcribing. Girls acquire knowledge a would-be-secretary must know.

Juniors and seniors plan for future

Numerous advantages are offered to Austin High students and included in them are the senior math and comptometry courses. Because these subjects are only half a year, many students have a chance to take them. Miss Lee Grinley, girls' counselor, helps confused students decide what courses will help them the most.

Austinian sales boomed this year as an all-out advertising campaign went on. Homerooms handled the sales once more. Those not so fortunate with "ready cash" had an opportunity to pay at a later date if they contacted staff members. This boosted subscription to a new high of 1900.

"Are you going to the mixer, tonight?"
After the excitement and worry of a foot-ball or basketball game, the social life of a mixer is most relaxing

The Homecoming Mixer, sponsored by GAA, featured a big football fashioned from thousands of white paper napkins. From the center of the football the black figure of a football player leaped at the dancers. Silhouettes of players were decorations.

"Winter Wonderland" was the theme for a holiday mixer put on by the Dirk and Bauble Club. Christmas trees, snow flakes, bells, and blue lights gave a realistic atmosphere to the whole setting. A mammoth wreath with a snack bar nestled in the middle was the center of attraction

The last big mixer of the year came during WPA week. Senior Friendship Club

Field Day feud ends with '52 activities

"The old world changeth, giving place to the new," quoth Shakespeare, and Austin students experienced one of these changes with the abolishing this year of Field Day, long a traditional spring event for the upper classes

Constantly increasing numbers of students and the safety factors involved were given by the Board of Education as fundamental reasons for eliminating the activity.

Last year's Field Day was staged in a drizzling all-day rain as students yelled their lungs dry cheering on teammates in volley-ball, rooster fights, three-legged races, and numerous other events of the day

Highlight of the day was the tug of war. Fire department members held the big hose on the rope as the '52 victor dragged its sopping '53 foe through mud and more water. Undaunted losers agreed, "You can't beat '53"

Ideal party-goers exchange plans

Long before May 27, strange activities were taking place around Austin High. Girls were huddled together, busily discussing the styles of the new formals. The boys were equally busy deciding whether to wear the old brown suit, or buy a new dark blue one. Also, there were those beautiful (but costly) corsages to order. It was, you see, time for the Junior-Senior Prom, and all else was forgotten in the anxious anticipation of the annual spring affair

Pre-proming for the biggest night

Two busy people were Solveig Strand and Neil Ludvigson. Neil called to ask the all important question "Will you go?" After satisfactorily answer: Solveig began to make her preparations, aided by her little sister Greta, who found Solveig's white netting more than she could tesist. With both Solveig and Neil struggling to get Neil's boutonniere on, they were finally ready to leave. "Mother, don't leave a light burning I'll be late toright!"

Prior to the grand ball, 25 junior couples ate a steak dinner at the Country Club. The meal was served by the Club's pro, Bob Carlson. Other couples went to private punch and dinner parties at the homes of their friends. Flash buibs popped and lights flickered ... pictures of the pretty gals and their guys were taken. Ken Hanson put a lot of miles on his Buick going from house to house, snapping the high-lights of each party.

At twelve, couples piled into their "limousines" and departed for the Country Club Here the terrific rhythm of "The Hawaiian War Chant" by the Ames Brothers proved to be the hit disc. After a few spins around the dimly lighted floor, girls tried to rest their aching feet by taking off their promheels-then on with the dancing.

I the sun rose, many couples could be seen out on the golf course trying to hit the ball. Having changed from prom clothes to jeans, sloppy shirts, and loafers, no one had to worry about tearing the layers of net in their formals or wrinkling a "tux"

Vocational classes provide experience

As the school year opened, Austin initiated a Vocational Area School setup which offers opportunities to those who have definite professions in mind.

Interest in Machine Shop is unusually high, as evidenced by full enrollments in both the one-hour exploratory course and the three-hour vocational plan. Vocational projects must meet high standards of perfection, since they are comparable to actual job problems.

Vocational hairdressing and beauty culture are taught in another course, cosmetology. Student beauty operators often reach high standards of proficiency. They are then allowed to perform on other members of the student body or community.

A third innovation is a three-hour carpentry course in which blueprint drawing and reading plus architectural work are included as well as actual carpentry and academic work.

New school will enlarge facilities

With the completion of the new Austin area vocational school building about next Christmas, many new shops, labs, and engineering sections will be available to students desiring vocational study. They will be equipped with the latest test equipment and marned by a staff of instructors who are experts in their respective fields.

No longer will students who want specialized training need to attend trade schools, for competent facilities will be available right here in Austin. Lower costs will also make it possible for larger numbers to take advantage of the opportunities. From this setup Austin hopes to receive an adequate home supply of machinists and repairmen for the future.

Two of the courses to be inaugurated are Radio and Television Service, and Electrical Appliance Service and Repair.

The object of the Radio and Television Service Class will be to train competent service personnel for these rapidly expanding fields. With the advent of local television stations and the accompanying volume of new set installations, TV dealers will be confronted with a greater demand for service. This demand can be filled by employing the fully trained graduates of the new course, who have learned to service and repair radio and TV equipment.

The Electrical Appliance Service and Repair will train persons to service and repair all types of appliances in the home and in commercial use.

Both classes will be coordinated with local appliance dealers, thereby enabling presentation of the latest developments in service and repair. This will make the work of greater value to the students.

It's just our life to be merry

Among the favorite "hangouts" of the Austin student body, Brigham's Ice Cream store and the two music stores seem to head the list. After school or on Saturday afternoons, students bend an ear to a phonograph playing the latest disc or spend "free" hours sipping a coke and comparing events of the previous night

Potlucks also rank high with the guys and gals of Austin. Many times the girls will gather at one of their houses for a pre-game supper. It might turn out that those bringing hot dishes don't get there till most of them have grudgingly filled up on cake or salad and already gone to the game, but that's all part of the fun

The year would never be complete without the Publications Christmas party. This year it was held at the home of editor-in-chief, Don Ryks. The rec room was decorated in a holiday atmosphere with a Christmas tree, holly, and mistletoe. After filling up on a delicious potluck supper, the Austinian staff and Sentinel heads gathered to sing Christmas carols and dance to their favorite records. As the hours slipped away, so did the students, bringing to an end another wonderful party

Entertainment proves amusing to students

Since Austin's student body has outgrown the 2100-seat capacity of the large auditorium, it has been necessary to divide the asmblies. Seventh graders are entertained in the small auditorium and the remaining students descend on the large auditorium.

Preceding the Austin-Albert Lea game, sophomore and junior students presented a hilarious pep skit. Students were then left to decide the outcome

A dance team composed of Jayne Gannon and Ronnie Roope provided entertainment during the half of the thrilling Austin-Albert Lea district tournament battle.

Entertainer Terry Golden kept enrapt seventh graders on the edges of their seats with western and southern folk songs.

Band is fundamental music organization

Marching band is tops in performance

Austin's senior band has for many years performed between halves at football game. Varied and intricate patterns which were conducted under the tute of the C. V. "Pop" Sperati, have provided entertainment for interested watchers. Last fall, following weeks of hard work, the unit was able to spell AUSTIN the full length of the field Amid the cheers of fans and visitors, the band, headed by high stepping majorettes, returned to their special section in the grand-stand to provide more music throughout the game.

Concert plays sweet and low

As well known as the scatlet and white of Austin's athletic teams is the two-toned plue uniform of its band. To many an aspiring young musician, the flame of ambition to belong to the band burns as bright as the similar desire of an athlete to be a great star

Although primarily a concert and marching unit, the senior band won a gold cup in 1952 for being the best Pep Band at the State Fir. Since Austin attracted the largest crowd of the ten appearing bands, it was named top pep band.

Two regularly scheduled concerts during the school year add variety to the program of marches, swing tunes, school songs, and novelty numbers which are chief features of the band's appearances at all home athletic events. A few favorite selections such as "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "At the Gremlin Ball" are standbys, retained each year by popular request

Senior orchestra

Orchestras form big part of music program

Another fine music organization offered to the students of Austin is the Symphony Orchestra.

The orchestra performs twice a year in public concerts, and also plays for the grade school. Concert selections chosen by the orchestra vary from classical offerings like "Der Fleidermaus" to popular numbers like "Blue Moon."

Traditionally, the orchestra took part in the Big Nine select music festival. Fifteen members were chosen to represent Austin at the Northfield meeting. Ann Carlson was chosen concert mistress, while Lenny Addington and Mary Jo Meister were named first and second chair cellos respectively, and Sara Lagervall was picked as first chair viola.

The second orchestra closely received the junior band, for it serves the same purpose. From it are picked the replacements for the graduating string members of the orchestra.

This year, with the split assembly schedule, the junior orchestra had an opportunity to perform for the seventh graders. They also appeared in public concert with the senior group

Minor bands increase in size yearly

Junior and beginner bands of former years are diminutive as compared to the large organizations of this year and the future. This overpopulation of musicians will by 1955 increase the junior group from 95 members to about 200. A direct result of enlarging will be the increase in competition for the privilege of entering senior band.

Twice a year, the junior band combines with the senior group in public concerts. Marching for homecoming and on Memorial Day are highlights for the juniors.

Size of the beginners' band is also increasing by leaps and bounds. Beginners lack uniforms of their own, so marching is reserved for the older musicians.

Their voices rise in joyous song

At Christmas time, everyone's thoughts turn to the annual Christmas concert.

In front of a background made to resemble stained glass windows by the skill of art students, the combined choir of the junior college and both high school choruses plus a stringed ensemble provide their audience with favorite Yuletide carols as well as some of the less well-known tunes.

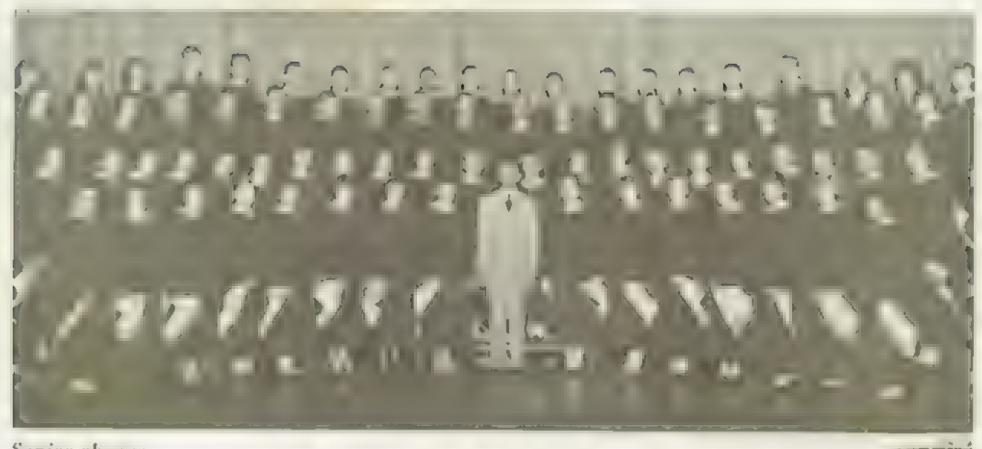

February's talent show starred Nancy Zein, Joanne Kester, Ralph Smith, Beverly Mellem, Bonnie Leck and Elizabeth Raasch. Featured were Fred Waring arrangements. Out of the junior chorus has come one of the most talented ensembles to appear in some time. Nine girls make up the Triple Trio which has harmonized at public gatherings in addition to singing for its high school audience. The girls highlighted a winter songfest with their sparkling arrangement of "Winter Wonderland."

Miss Jeanne Dudley directs the junior choir as well as the Triple Trio. Paul O. Heltne is in character of the senior chorus, and Richard Lockwood is maestro of the junior college organization.

The "ever-popular" Thespian Drama Club was very active this year, presenting two plays, "Double Date" and "Growing Pains", to the student body. The Senior Friendship Tea entertainment included "In the Suds," a one act comedy. Three radio plays and meetings once a month completed their activities.

One of the biggest changes to hit the high school in recent years went into operation at the beginning of the second semester. A shortened noon hour was adopted. To an outsider, confusion may seem to be the theme for Room 204, home of the Austinian staff. Out of that hustle and bustle, however, comes Austin High's yearbook.

Honors bestowed on deserving leaders

Scholarship, character, leadership and service were the traits on which fifteen per cent of the senior class were chosen for the National Honor Society. Any senior boy or girl who possessed these qualities had a chance to become a member of this group. This year the choice was hard and as a result, a number of students who were just below the line had to be left out.

A formal installation was held on March 12 in the auditorium, after which parents and students were entertained at a reception in the cafeteria.

One more than a baker's dozen met Quill and Scroll membership requirements and were initiated March 5. Active members chose new members on the basis of scholarship and the interest they took in journalistic work.

Quill and Scroll, international society for high school journalists, thus honors members of the Sentinel and Austinian annually. They then receive cards and pir signifying their acceptance into the fraternity.

Congratulations are in order

Service groups take over responsibilities

Do students appreciate the movies they have in the class room? Known as the "Fogdall boys," the helpers who volunteer to work go from room to room putting up and taking down black curtains, wheeling movie projectors to the various rooms, and delivering films. Girls are responsible for scheduling the films and taking care of other general office work.

Every hour, students volunteer to help the teachers in study halls. They do such things as checking attendance and taking out slips. Besides keeping general order in the study hall, they make out building passes.

Camera Club, meeting once a month, conducts discussions about improving pictures. Camera bugs also practice developing, enlarging and taking good pictures. In the spring, members of the club go on field trips to Todd Park, where they snap scenery shots. A contest is sponsored by the club each year. The dark room is open to any camera club member. Students do portrait work of each other, then print, enlarge, tone, and tint their own negatives.

Known as the "Trip to Hades," the initiation of slaves opened the year for the Latin Club. Some new citizens still claim sore knees from bowing before the "kings."

The Slave Auction was both fun and a money making project for members. Tom Togas, auctioneer, sold over fifty slaves to Roman citizens. Inflation hit the club with a bang as the top slave brought $4.95.

Saturnalia, a harvest festival holiday in Roman times, was celebrated at the December meeting. Each person brought a toy which was sent either to the state school at Faribault or to the Mower County Welfare Board. A mock king, Tom Golden, was elected to reign over the special event.

A Roman wedding featured Margie Richardson and Ted Colescott. Just before the ceremony, the bride's hair was divided into six locks by the point of a spear.

A candlelight installation service was held for incoming officers. Don Ryks, retiring consul, surrendered his toga and gavel to the new president, Jim Todd. Completing the year's activities was a funeral ceremony for the Pontifex Maximus. The corpse of the high priest, Jack Frost, was escorted to the auditorium by a procession of mourners.

Miss Margaret Scarseth guards the destinies of the Roman subjects.

Girls take on many office jobs

A new attendance office was added this year when Doron Warren moved to room 315 to become the junior high assistant principal and Glen Darling took over the vacated office on second floor. In addition to these offices, there are three other spots in the building where senior high girls may offer their assistance to the teachers in charge These include the nurses' office, the custodial office, and the music office

Girls in the assistant principals' offices, collect hourly attendance slips. They also deliver papers carrying "special invitations" which call students to the offices or other appointments.

Students should be proud of Austin's FFA chapter. Not only is it the largest chapter in the state, but it is one of the most active.

This year they were the recipients of the traveling Premier Exhibitors' Trophy for showing outstanding livestock at the State Fair

There are many contests in which the members have an opportunity to participate Some of these are dairy, crops, soils, general livestock, judging, and parliamentary procedure on the local, district, and state level.

Last year, the FFA, in cooperation with the Mower County Fair Board, set up a Children's Farm Yard. This proved to be a very popular display of farm animals for local actuals as we can could ten

Hard work creates top local athletes

Beginning with the opening of football practice in the 1 and closing with baseball in the spring, many eager Austin Highers participate in all fields of athletics. From these, the coaching staff molds teams which consistently prope themselves the best in the Big 4.

Local youth receive athletic Instruction from the time they are of grade-school age until they graduate. Hard work, sweat, and self-discipline ultimately produce smooth functioning, hard-to-beat teams

Aboye all though, is sportsmanship. Fans, well as players are looked upon to fulfill their responsibility for fair play. No one can be a wunter forever. Somewhere, sometime every team is bound to get beaten, and knowing how to be a good loser counts just as much as knowing how to be a good winner.

Red and Ted retire; Hal carries on Minnesota state high school football coaches are through seeing "Red." That fact was recently established when Red Hastings resigned as head coach at Austin.

During his 15-year Big 9 reign, his teams set a phenomenal record of 79 wins, 5 ties, and only 11 losses. This year's loss to Faribault was the second in a 56-game streak.

Many championships have been won under Red's direction. The Big 9 was first copped in 1943, and then six consecutive years beginning in '46. Rochester shared the '48 title. Since the introduction of state rating in 1947, Austin has won 3 championships and also gained a second and a seventh.

The Packers are losing more than one of their coaches, however, as a severe case of polio has benched Ted Gillett. After becoming sick at Thanksgiving, Mr. Gillett was confined to Sister Kenny Institute. There he is regaining the use of his legs, and the 60 pounds he lost because of the illness.

Only quiet, unassuming Hal Cuff is left to carry on for his football cohorts,

As the curtain rose on the 1953 gridiron season for the Austin Packers, they met and tied a strong Winona team 6-6. Although the Winhawks were strong, it was greenness and fumbles that slowed the Austin attack most. A talented sophomore, Dave "Chico" Ploof, led the offensive attack with his shifty running, as well as scoring Austin's lone touchdown on a 40-yard screen pass.

Vocational smashed 26-6

With Coach Red Hastings and son Bob confined to their home by polio, the Packers rolled to a 26-6 victory over a hard-fighting Vocational team. Chico Ploof's passing and Jim Grothe's spectacular running led the Packer offense. They continually marched for long gains behind a strong forward wall, headed by Griff Owens and Berwyn Ploof.

Red Wing dumped 32-18

Although considered a chief threat for the Big 9 title, Red Wing was the victim of a stunning 32-18 defeat by Austin.

The offensively-minded teams matched each other in scoring the first half as it ended 12-12. Grothe and Hastings broke loose for two quick touchdowns in the fourth quarter to clinch the victory.

Austin's final score came on a 56 v...'d pass, Bob Hastings to Berwyn Ploof.

Mankato routed 33-7

Queen Marlene Nordland climaxed her reign by watching the Packers triumph 33-7 over an outclassed Mankato team.

Although this year's "B" football team didn't have too impressive a record, squad members showed considerable improvement as the season progressed.

Green Packers have surprising season

Although this was supposed to be Austin's rebuilding year, several surprises were in store for the faithful. One of these was the tremendous 74-56 victory over Sioux Falls Washington at Williams Arena. Sioux Falls was considered the best in South Dakota.

Everyone was calling this year's quintet the Yankees of southern Minnesota, after they gained their seventeenth trip to the state tournament. Since the Packers started with only one regular and one reserve back, fans had not even conceded them a chance to make it past the District, However, Albert Lea's Tigers fell victim to Austin's tournament spirit in the opening round 67-60.

Austin their comped in to the regional, where Owalonna almost prived their match. The Indians transled 63-61, as Beb Hestings poured in 33 points to put the Packers in the state for the third straight year.

In their opening game, Austin faced Be-midji, king of Region 8. It was a red hot scorn g duel as both teams can ken in baskets at almost a 50 per cent clip. Bemidji finally won the bucket race, 75-73

It was no disgrace for the Packers to drop their final game, as the loss came at the hands of Red Wing, near conquerors of state champion Hopkins,

Packers gain three conference triumphs

In their first conference start of the 1953 season, Austin dropped Rochester, 53-50. An aggressive defense and some nifty 16-point sharp-shooting by Hastings and Meyer turned the trick for the Packers.

After holding a 23-18 halftime advantage, the Packers had to stave off a Rocket rally for the victory

As the Packers' first clash with Albert Lea came to a close, two pressure free throws dropped by Bob Hastings after the game ended tied the score at 55-all and enabled Austin to gain a 64-61 overtime win. Bob McK... hit 16, and Jerry Olson 6 in the overtime, to pace the attack

Scoring a field goal in the last 16 seconds of play, an aggressive Edina five handed Austin a 58-56 setback

The Packers were constantly in trouble, with Bob McKay, who burned the nets for 21, the only consistent Austin scorer. Jim Joslin dunked 20 for Edina.

Dick Dahl turned in a remarkable defensive job on Winona hotshot Al Svenningson, to enable the Packers to grab their third conference triumph.

Austin led only 30-29 at half-time, but rallied on Jerry Olson's 16 points to win going away, 52-41

Successful weekend brings two victories

Picking up their fourth straight conference victory, Austin left Mankato by the wayside, [5,5]. Outclassing the Scarlets all the way, the Packers showed form that could belong to a championship team. Jumpshot artist, Bob McKay, riffled the nets for 22 points

Utilizing good rebounding, a tight defense, plus a good shooting percentage, the Packers rolled over Owatonna, 67-51

Bob Hastings led the offensive attack by pouring in 23 points, as Winston Folkers the Big 9 leading scorer, netted 24 for the Indians

The Packers journeyed to Williams Arena on Saturday and climaxed a successful weekend by downing Sioux Falls Washington, 74-56.

Shellacking of the highly touted South Dakota five was accomplished with mechanical precision, as it was the best team game of the year. Four of the starting five hit double figures

Faribault continued to hold an upset jinx over Austin, as they hustled their way to a 52-48 victory.

Late in the fourth period, the Packers muffed a chance to pull ahead. With the ball in their possession, the Berven boys found the basket covered, as countless shots rolled off the rim.

Frank Luksik tied Rve for scoring honors with 17 points

Although big Bob Schmidt garnered 27 points, the rest of Rochester's squad proved ineffective from the field as they fell to the Packers, 66-59

Dick Dahl turned in his best scoring per formance in collecting 11 points. Bob Hastings also helped the cause by netting 20

As a terrific blizzard raged outside, Austin enjoyed one of their hottest shooting nights in handing Northfield their tenth straight conference setback, 81-55

Smooth floor play and balanced scoring added up to a well-played game for Berven's cagers.

Red Wing leaves opening

Fighting five cop district crown

It was 20 points for Bob Hastings against Red Wing's fine squad, but he couldn't take up the slack that was left when his mates suffered one of their coldest shooting nights of the year. Bernie Raetz and the Deden brothers, Dick and Wayne, combined for 42 points to ice the 66-54 win.

Even though Austin was inexperienced at the beginning of the season, it was Albert Lea who was green with envy after they succumbed to the Packers in the District, 67-60 Dick Dahl held the Tigers' high-scoring Bill Bridley to one field goal, as Jerry Olson and Bob Hastings got 25 and 21 points, respectively.

Coach Ove Berven was able to use his reserves for the first time since play downs started, as the Packers turned back Rose Creek 79-51 for the District title. It was Austin's defense which shone again, for 6'5" center John Root of the Creekers was only able to collect 11 points

Although the B squad started slowly, they came back powerfully to down their last seven opponents and finish with a 9-4 season record. Albert Lea and Winona took close decisions before the B's final triumphs over Mankato, Owatonna, Faribault, Albert Lea, Rochester, Northfield, and Red Wing

Once Tony Maus and Odis Halvorson began finding the range, opponents fell thick and fast. Both counted over 100 points for the season. Starting guards Terry Meyer and Gordy Anderson also contributed their share, as did Tom Holgate, Bob Boyenga, Bill Dunlap, and Gary Lunde.

These standouts, along with Bob Mathias, Jack Smith, Henry Gower, Bill Tate, and John Holgate, should provide some topflight varsity material for the next few years.

Austin's linkmen compiled a formidable record in '52, losing only to Albert Lea's Big Nine and state championship quartet. Captain Bob Nelson led his aggregation to five victories in seven attempts, and second place in the Big Nine. Faribault and Rochester each fell victim twice, with Northfield losing once.

Coach Walt Lembcke should again have a top-flight contender this year with Nelson, Ted Colescott, Dave Johnson, Don Christianson, and newly elected captain LaRue Johnson as his "eagle" hunters. The number 13 proved lucky for tiny Halstad in the state baseball finals last year as they ended Austin's string at 16 consecutive triumphs. After advancing to the finals, Coach Dick Seltz's nine faltered in the clutch to come out second best in the state.

Throughout the year it was the terrific clouting of Dick Anderson and Bob Hastings which led the team. Both batted over .400, collected a homerun, and together with Dave Meyer will form the veteran nucleus around which this year's team will be built.

Resignation of head track coach Charles Willard came as a big surprise. After six years of teaching the boys to run, jump, vault, and throw, he decided to turn over the reins to John Saari, who will attempt to carry on with the returning veterans.

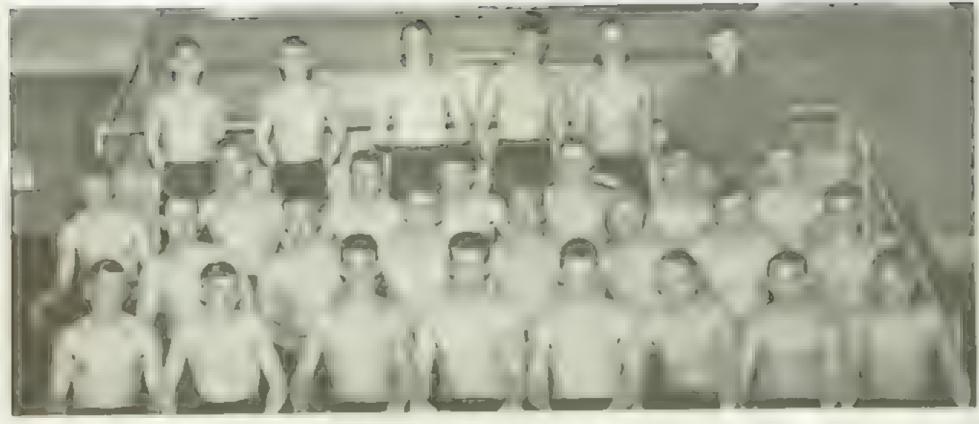

The chief returning prospects include Jim Grothe, Mike Flanagan, Marvin Foster, Dale Dahl, Myron Jensen, and Duane Thorson. Loss of sprinter Dave Folkestad because of a kidney infection somewhat dimmed hopes for an exceptional season.

Barring more of Minnesota's weather tricks, in which it rains, snows, sleets, and hails all at once, this year's squad will be outside at an early date. Otherwise, it will go round and round the gym, hoping to be able to get outside soon.

Although last season included only meets with more than two teams, the cindermen came through with a good showing. Wrestlers build for future meets Wrestling competition was unusually strong in the Big Nine this year, as a good Austin squad was unable to better a three won, five lost record. The Packer team also dropped a close decision to Anoka.

Wrestling letter winners who showed the greatest improvement were Rodney Ellis,

Jim Grothe, Don Barnett, and Cory Shoemaker. Besides Grothe and Ellis, Erling Burns and Russell Wambeam graduate. Bob Hoff, Bob Husemoller, Jerry Meyer, Dale Neitzel, Roswell Ulland, and Bob Rugg will join Barnett and Shoemaker as returning lettermen

Swim squad concludes successful pool season

Only two defeats marred the record of this year's Packer tank squad, both of them by Rochester's state champions. Otherwise it was a clean slate, as Dave Nelson led the team to six triumphs. He broke Austin's pool record twice, setting the 200-yard individual medley record at 1:50.6.

Besides Nelson, graduating point-getters are Forrest Gardner, LaRue Johnson, Eugene Bootenhoff, and Duane Thorson. Maloney, Holt, Albright, Thatcher, Shankland, Plath and Guintire also won letters.

Girls will be boys--Austin GAA slogan

"Girls will be boys" is clearly emphasized by Austin High School's Girls' Athletic Association. Volleyball, swimming, basketball, kittenball, and tennis are but a few of the sports in which these enthusi. Six members of the fairer sox engage.

Advisers Miss Dorothy Hoos of the senior high and Miss Velma Bro of the junior high try to keep the rivalry friendly. At times they even engage in the games themselves

Members of the senior club also take on the extra duty of arranging the details for the homecoming celebration. Many problems must be solved, but everything always turns out all right under these capable directors. Serve like this

"... and remember, Pignewton, those immortal words of Hamlet 'there is a divinity that shapes our ends'..."

Just the heart of the ham Hernel takes a choice whole ham—skins it, takes out the bone, trims it carefully of all surplus fat. Then removes the shank in such a way that you get magnificent, tender whole slices from first to last. America's original ... and finest... canned ham. Geo. A. Hormel & Co., Austin, Minn.
